

Lisa Baydush

is a Jewish music educator, singer and song-writer in the Washington, DC metropolitan area. The early childhood music specialist at Washington Hebrew Congregation's Julia Bindeman Suburban Center and Congregation B'nai Tzedek, Lisa also leads bi-monthly Tot Shabbat services at both synagogues, Tot High Holiday services at the JCC-GW, and other holiday services and concerts at a variety of congregations and schools. In addition, Lisa writes, designs and leads customized b'nai mitzvah services for families who are unaffiliated or looking for an alternative approach to their simcha. Lisa performs as part of Shir Synergy, a Jewish music trio with whom she has produced two CDs of her original songs, and The Sunshine Girls, a dynamic children's performing duo. A prolific composer of preschool music, Lisa has released two preschool albums, Shalom Chaverim and Shabbat Boogie, with songs for two other albums available on her website – Party in the Sukkah and How Good It is!
